

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN

DEAN, COLLEGE OF MEDICINE

Located on one of Canada's most beautiful campuses, the University of Saskatchewan is internationally recognized for its contributions to teaching, scholarship, research and innovation. It is a university on the rise, united through campus-wide integrated planning behind a vision for its future based on international standards, areas of pre-eminence and a sense of place.

The university's community comprises more than 16,500 undergraduate and 2,800 graduate students, 7,500 faculty and staff and offers a wide selection of degrees, diplomas and certificates in more than 100 areas and disciplines. Its 17 colleges and schools offer an array of discipline-based, interdisciplinary and professional programs. Faculty and students in the various programs work together to better explore important questions and timely issues. With a focus on teaching, learning and research, the U of S is poised to make discoveries that will shape the city, the province and the world now and in the future.

Proud of its history and optimistic about its future, the College of Medicine is dedicated to developing tomorrow's leaders and professionals through teaching, research and service. The college is ready to move into the new state-of-the-art, $300M+ health sciences facility in Saskatoon with additional facilities under development in other centres across the province. Together with its provincial health authority partners, the College of Medicine provides innovative programs in health through an integrated, province-wide delivery model. With more than 725 students and looking to expand of its undergrad cohort, the college teaches students at the undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate levels. For more information about the College of Medicine please visit www.medicine.usask.ca.

Reporting to the Provost, the Dean of the College of Medicine is responsible for providing dynamic, strategic and collaborative leadership to a college distinguished in scholarship and teaching. S/he must possess a strong record of research and scholarly achievement as well as success in administration. The ability to fairly balance the demands of a complex college and to capitalize on opportunities for synergy and collaboration with external partners is essential. This challenging position demands superb interpersonal and communication skills and sound judgment to provide leadership for the continuing development of the College of Medicine.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply, however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. The University of Saskatchewan is committed to Employment Equity. Members of designated groups (women, Aboriginal peoples, people with disabilities and visible minorities) are encouraged to apply.

To learn more about this exciting opportunity, call Maureen MacLean or Maureen Geldart at The Geldart Group: (604) 926-0005 or forward your application package (current CV, letter of application and reference list) in confidence to info@thegeldartgroup.com.

THE GELDART GROUP
Executive Search & Leadership Consulting