Department Psychology

Applications are being accepted for a tenure-track position in clinical psychology at the Assistant Professor rank, effective July 1, 2012 (starting date is negotiable).

Applicants with research and applied interests in any area of clinical psychology are invited to apply, but preference will be given to applicants with a focus in health (broadly defined as mental or physical health). We are committed to hiring outstanding scientist-practitioners who can make significant contributions to the research and teaching missions of the department, who are committed to interdisciplinarity, and who can forge productive links with other areas of graduate programming in the department (i.e., Basic Behavioural Science, Culture and Human Development, Applied Social Psychology). Requirements for the positions include: Ph.D. (must be completed at time of appointment) in clinical psychology, a strong research record, evidence of effectiveness in teaching and supervision, completion of an internship in an accredited or equivalent setting, and eligibility for registration as a psychologist in Saskatchewan.

The Department's doctoral program in clinical psychology is a well-established scientist-practitioner program that is fully accredited by the Canadian Psychological Association. The Department has 25 full-time faculty members, and 5 affiliate members from St. Thomas More College. There are over 75 graduate students completing an MA or PhD across the four graduate programs.

The University of Saskatchewan is located in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, a city with a diverse and thriving economic base, a vibrant arts community and a full range of leisure opportunities. The University has a reputation for excellence in teaching, research and scholarly activities, and offers a full range of undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs to a student population of about 20,000. The university is one of Canada's leading research-intensive universities.

The College of Arts & Science offers a dynamic combination of programs in the humanities and fine arts, the social sciences, and natural sciences. There are over 8,000 undergraduate and graduate students in the College and over 300 faculty including 12 Canada Research Chairs. The College emphasizes student and faculty research, interdisciplinary programs, community outreach and international opportunities.

Successful candidates will demonstrate excellence or promise of excellence in teaching and graduate supervision. They will be expected to develop a vigorous, externally-funded research program.

Applications will be accepted until January 1, 2012, or until the position is filled. Please submit a curriculum vitae, copies of relevant publications and teaching evaluations, and a cover letter detailing how your research and clinical practice, past, present, and future would contribute to the Department and to the Graduate Program in Clinical Psychology. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of reference sent to:
